

Don't Shoot

I read once of an announcement in a newspaper in India reporting the death of a missionary. It went something like this:-

It is with much sadness that we announce the sudden death of the Reverend David Brown who was greatly loved by the members of his parish and who was accidentally shot dead by his native bearer.

“Well done thou good and faithful servant”

Well friends, I hope no-one here has a gun but if anyone has I should be most grateful if you would ensure that it does not go off in the direction of the speaker either accidentally or otherwise!
